Investment strategy

SKAGEN m2 provides exposure to a normally difficult to access global real estate market. The fund selects low-priced, high-quality real estate companies from around the world. The fund is suitable for those with at least a five year investment horizon. Subscriptions are made in fund units and not directly in stocks or other securities. The benchmark reflects the fund's investment mandate. Since the fund is actively managed, the portfolio will deviate from the composition of the benchmark.

Monthly commentary, January 2024

After a strong end to the year for global real estate, the sector delivered a negative return for the month of January. This can mainly be attributed to a pushback from several central banks regarding when interest rates cuts will start, and it is evident that macro news is still a major driver for the sector.

SKAGEN m2 started the year with a good month on a relative basis, outperforming its global benchmark.

The top performers for SKAGEN m2 in January were US alternative investment management platform Digital Bridge, US/global datacentre owner and operator Equinix and Japanese real estate operator Tokyo Fudosan. Digital Bridge announced that they have completed the last stage of their transformation path and deconsolidated the last datacentre they had on their balance sheet. This was a key factor in our investment thesis.

The bottom performers in January were US tower company American Tower, Swedish logistics operator Catena and Brazilian logistics operator LOG. Both American Tower and Catena were our strongest contributors last quarter and took a breather in January.

SKAGEN m2 continues to focus on resilient companies in trend driven subsegments that are mispriced, can perform in various market conditions, have solid balance sheets, and are well positioned for inflation.
