Investment strategy

SKAGEN m2 provides exposure to a normally difficult to access global real estate market. The fund selects low-priced, high-quality real estate companies from around the world. The fund is suitable for those with at least a five year investment horizon. Subscriptions are made in fund units and not directly in stocks or other securities. The benchmark reflects the fund's investment mandate. Since the fund is actively managed, the portfolio will deviate from the composition of the benchmark.

Monthly commentary, February 2024

The real estate sector has delivered negative returns so far this year despite ending on a positive note for the month of February.

The negative returns can be attributed to the continued pushback from central banks, and the markets' interpretation of the timeline as to when interest rates will be cut and by how much. A higher-than-expected US CPI number in the month pushed rate cut hopes out further, which had a negative effect on the sector. We believe it is important to focus on the longer-term interest rate trends and take advantage of the opportunity to buy into the sector at a time of corrections based on short-term guesswork.

The top performer for SKAGEN m2 in February was the US listed global datacentre operator Equinix, which is riding the waves of the AI boom. The company also delivered a solid report based on the overall solid demand for datacentres and limited supply.

The bottom performer in the month was the Belgian healthcare real estate owner Aedifica despite delivering a report in line with expectations. However, there is limited growth guidance for now.

SKAGEN m2 continues to focus on resilient companies in trend driven subsegments that are mispriced, can perform in various market conditions, have solid balance sheets, and are well positioned for inflation.
