

Performance Commentary

July was generally a good month for stocks, as fears of a global trade war subsided. The largest contribution to SKAGEN Vekst's absolute return came from Swiss-listed Lonza Group. The company reported a very strong result for the second quarter, showing accelerating revenue growth combined with increasing margins. Our Danish pharma company Novo Nordisk also had a strong month, as the market digested a number of positive data points for its promising pipeline drug oral semaglutide.

One of the largest negative contributors was our US-listed semiconductor company Broadcom, as the company announced the unexpected acquisition of software company CA Technologies. Norsk Hydro also had a difficult month, along with other commodity-related names, as concerns over slowing Chinese growth take their toll.

SKAGEN Vekst initiated a new position in Danske Bank in July where we see significant upside. The share price has taken a beating following continued news reports that the bank's branch in Estonia was used to launder large amounts of money in the period from 2007 to 2015. To fund this purchase, we sold out of the Japanese elevator company Fujitec.

The fund selects low-priced, high-quality companies in the Nordic region and from around the world.

The objective is to provide the best possible risk adjusted return.

The fund is suitable for those with at least a five year investment horizon.
