

Performance Commentary

Global stock markets continued to climb higher in August driven by decent economic numbers as more countries opened up, combined with a renewed commitment from the US central bank to keep rates lower for longer. The US dollar weakened against all major currencies in August, holding back the return for NOK-based investors. SKAGEN Vekst generally saw strong contribution from holdings geared towards renewable energy, like Bonheur and Vestas, following positive political signals around further investment in this area. While Samsung delivered a strong Q2 result, the company was among our weakest performers in August, after one of its main competitors warned of a tougher outlook for the memory industry. We added to our positions in the insurance company ALG and pharma company Novo Nordisk as we see more upside in both holdings following a weak share price performance. We trimmed our positions in windmill producer Vestas and healthcare company Lonza following strong performance. We also exited the shipping company Stolt-Nielsen to fund higher conviction ideas. While the market has moved up a long way from the bottom in mid-March, we still see significant upside in many cyclical companies, particularly within the financial and materials sectors.

The fund selects low-priced, high-quality companies in the Nordic region and from around the world.

The objective is to provide the best possible risk adjusted return.

The fund is suitable for those with at least a five year investment horizon.
