Investment strategy

SKAGEN Focus Lux is a high conviction equity fund that seeks to generate long-term capital growth by investing in a portfolio of global companies with a bias towards small and mid-cap stocks. The fund is actively managed and applies a contrarian and price-driven investment process to create a portfolio which typically trades at a steep discount to the broader market based on traditional valuation metrics.

Risk profile (SRI)

We have classified this product as 4 out of 7, which is a medium risk class.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets. A medium risk class rates the potential losses from future performance at a medium level. Other risks materially relevant to the PRIIP not included in the summary risk indicator: Event risk, liquidity risk, operational risk, counterparty risk, derivatives risk and currency risk. If the fund invests in securities in a currency other than the fund's base currency, the value is affected by changes in the exchange rate. In addition, the value of your payout may be affected if your local currency is different from the fund's currency. This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment.

Portfolio manager commentary, May 2026

Global equity markets rose in May, led by renewed strength in technology and semiconductor stocks. The fund delivered strong relative performance during the month, supported by stock selection and increasing market recognition of value in several of our portfolio positions.

The main positive contributors were Hyundai Mobis, Lenovo and Siltronic. Hyundai Mobis performed strongly as investors continued to recognise the company's significant asset backing, governance improvement potential and attractive position within the Hyundai group structure. The market has also increasingly focused on the company's longer-term optionality in robotics, both as a key component supplier and main shareholder of Boston Dynamics.

Lenovo rallied on solid operational development and continued investor interest in AI-related infrastructure demand. We trimmed our position in Lenovo during the month, following a share price increase in excess of 180% since position initiation in December last year.

German wafer producer Siltronic also re-rated sharply as the market began to price in improving supply /demand dynamics in silicon wafers. The position reached our target price during the month and was closed.

Methanex, one of the fund's largest positions, was the main detractor, although the negative contribution was limited in a month where the fund delivered a positive absolute return. Tensions in Iran had previously supported energy and methanol prices, as Iran is one of the world's major methanol producers. As tensions eased during the month and hopes of a resolution increased, the share price came under pressure. We continue to see Methanex as well positioned in the current environment, with attractive upside from normalised earnings power and improved cash flow generation over time.

Sustainability

SKAGEN's approach to sustainability

Our ESG approach is built on four pillars. In keeping with SKAGEN's active investment philosophy, our sustainability activities centre on active engagement with our holding companies, which is where we believe we can have the greatest impact. We recognise, however, that the full potential of a sustainable investment strategy is best realised when combining the following four pillars.

- ✓ Exclusion
- ✓ Enhanced due diligence
- ✓ ESG factsheet
- ✓ Active ownership

Article 8

Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation (SFDR)

The product promotes environmental and social characteristics by directing its capital towards companies and issuers that meet defined ESG (environmental, social and governance) criteria. This is achieved through compliance with international norms and conventions, by taking into account negative impacts on sustainable development (PAI) and through product- or activity-based exclusions. See the prospectus for more information on the products sustainability characteristics.
